

pv magazine Awards Guidelines

The pv magazine Awards 2026 – time to celebrate success

Applying for the pv magazine Awards is a great way to gain exposure to a global audience, secure international recognition and celebrate achievements made by your business. We welcome applications from companies worldwide making a contribution to the solar or energy storage sectors.

Entries for the pv magazine Awards 2026 are now open and the submission period will close on August 31, 2026.

Why enter?

- Magazine exposure: We will be highlighting notable entries across pv magazine Awards categories in our monthly magazine pv magazine Global throughout the year. There can be only one winner but multiple entries will find themselves in the spotlight for a global audience.
- Quality mark: Assessed by an independent, international panel of expert jurors, the pv magazine Awards is an accolade you can use to signal quality to potential clients and the wider industry.
- Reward excellence: Following all the hard work ahead of a product or project deadline, celebrating with an award win and a coveted pv magazine Award trophy.
- Make your presence known: pv magazine editors often pick up on solar and energy storage developments that appear in the pool of awards entries.

pv magazine Awards Guidelines

How to make your application stand out

Check out our FAQ section for more guidance and make sure to answer each question on the application form and provide supplementary materials to support your entry.

pv magazine Awards jurors seek out entries that display innovation, have a demonstrable market impact, are technically sound and offer excellent quality.

If you've recently launched a new product or commissioned a solar or energy storage project then we want to hear from you.

Complete your application today

Quick Facts

- Awards categories
- Modules
 - Inverters
 - Balance of System (BoS)
 - Battery Energy Storage Systems (BESS)
 - Manufacturing
 - Sustainability
 - Projects

Submission period April 1 - August 31, 2026

Participation fee No submission fee

Contact If you have any questions or would like support with your application, please do not hesitate to contact us at award@pv-magazine.com